"BE KIND OUT THERE"

By GARRY MOORE
Star Of Television

At the end of our morning television shows, the cameras move in for a close-up and I stop talking for a moment.

This is unusual for our gabby show. And I'll have to admit that a friend once told me the silence was the part of the show he liked best.

This is all right with me because it happens to be the part I like best, too. During the silence I am thinking about the phrase I use to close our show: "Be very kind to each other out there."

Why do I think this is an important idea? Because I am convinced of the healing power of this word kindness.

An Early Lesson
When I was a boy back in Baltimore, I wanted very much to be an actor. There was only one trouble. I stuttered. I stuttered from "G-G-Good morning" until "G-G-Goodnight." It wasn't at all funny to me, especially in view of my ambitions.

One day during my junior year in high school, a friend mentioned that he was going to try out for the school play. And then he asked me to come along. When I looked frightened, he said:

"You told me you were interested in acting. Well, come on then. At least you can watch some good acting when I get up on that stage."

So we went. There was a long line. I'll never forget how nervous I was as I stood in the school auditorium and watched the line grow shorter.

A Kind Man
The dramatics coach was standing on the stage with a script in his hand, listening to the other kids. Occasionally he looked down at the line. He must have been surprised to see me, knowing of my stuttering and the inferiority complex I suffered because of it.

What I didn't know was that this kind man had plans for me the moment he saw me come into the room.

Just before my turn I whispered to my friend, "Here's where I take off." But I didn't move fast enough. The dramatics coach reached out and handed me a part, and before I could protest, he walked to the other side of the stage. "Well?" he said, waiting.

Really Nervous
The papers in my hand were rattling and fluttering like aspen leaves. I was so nervous. It wasn't just a part — it was a lead. And there I was standing in the middle of the stage with everyone looking at me.

So I jumped in with both feet. To my surprise, I read easily. And apparently fairly well because I got the part. All thanks to the curing kindness of the high school teacher who knew a peculiarity about stutterers: they're all right as long as they have someone else's words to say.

Since that day I have seen one example after another of this amazing power of kindness to heal such things as an inferiority complex, a hatred, a misunderstanding.

It's Not Softness
There was a Man 2,000 years ago who based almost all of His ministry on kindness. Christ's healings were almost always coupled with words of kindness that must have made the sick feel as though they were glowing inside.

Kindness isn't softness. If it is, it doesn't cure anything at all. A real kindness has a wonderful healing power, and you'll know it right away. Sometimes the most effective use of kindness occurs when it is least expected of us.

When I was living out in California, I knew two Chinese who had gotten into an awful squabble. Ling Toy was an old man. He had a restaurant near our home. For 20 years Ling had worked hard, and in that time he had built a fine trade.

Slurring Remarks
Then one day across the street a young Chinese named Wong opened another restaurant.

From the first, Ling made slurring remarks about Wong's place. Wong served from a dirty kitchen. He let customers wait too long. He didn't know the art of real Chinese food blending.

But nothing he said ever seemed to rattle the young man across the street. When told of Ling's remarks, Wong merely replied, "Oh, I'm sure you must have misunderstood. Why Ling Toy couldn't possibly have said that. He's too genuinely kind."

Ling Toy was flabbergasted when he heard about this. Nor could he stand up long under such an attack of kindness. Within a week he walked over to Wong and introduced himself. In time the two men became close friends.

AT COLLEGE FOR LEAGUE GROUP

The Great Books course taught at Gettysburg College under the title of General Education course, why it was founded and the psychology of the course as applied to the individual student, was discussed by Mrs. Katharine Kressmann Taylor at the March meeting of the Gettysburg sub-league of the Woman's General League of Gettysburg College Tuesday night at Christ Lutheran Church at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Taylor, who is assistant professor of English at the college, is chairman of the literary foundations course. She is known nationally as author of the two novels "Address Unknown" and "Until That Day." She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Oregon and did graduate work at the University of California.

In outlining the objectives of the course, Mrs. Taylor said: "It is designed to arouse in the student a sense of himself, his society and God in private and public life. It is hoped that the course will discipline the student's thinking, educate his tastes, teach him to apprehend universals, develop a sense of mystery and wonder, summon an awareness of spiritual insights, explore Christian tradition, gain an insight into other civilizations and to acquire a toleration of ideas and cultures other than his own, increase his humility and learn the extent of his own ignorance and intensify his feeling for life and his sympathy for all men."

Study Many Books
"During the first semester the following books are studied, the entire work read, not parts, as in some universities: Homer and the tragedians; Aeschylus; Sophocles; Euripides; Aristophanes; Aristotle; Plato; Lucretius; Virgil. Second semester works are: The Book of Job; St. Augustine; 'The Divine Comedy'; Rabelais; Shakespeare; Milton's 'Paradise Lost'; Voltaire's 'Candide'; Goethe's 'Faust'."

"The course was instituted at the college ten years ago because a movement in American education at that time was rampant. Men began (Continued On Page 8)

OldSectionOf
U.S. 30 Called
"Deplorable"

George J. Richards, deputy secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, today informed George W. Miller, manager of the Gettysburg Motor Club, that the Lincoln Highway from the western edge of Gettysburg to the intersection with the three-lane highway at McKnightstown is in a "deplorable condition."

The announcement came following an inspection of the route by a district engineer and his crew from the Department of Highways.

Several weeks ago the Motor Club wrote to Richards and complained of the condition of that section of the famous transcontinental highway named, many years ago, after the martyred President Abraham Lincoln. The club official said the condition of that section of the road was "deplorable." Richards ordered an inspection. The result was as stated above.

Manager Miller said that he had conferred with Clyde O. Garber, superintendent of maintenance in Adams County for the Highway Department, who said that the section complained about required almost daily repairs and that it was a costly stretch at the present time.

Miller told The Gettysburg Times today that when the stretch of road is rebuilt he understands it will follow the present right-of-way.

Israel Begins Moving Out Of Gaza Strip, Aqaba Gulf Area

By ERIC GOTTGETREU
JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel began moving out of the Gaza Strip and the Aqaba Gulf area today.

Premier David Ben-Gurion crushed parliamentary opposition to the pullout, winning overwhelming votes of confidence. He said there will be peace "if the United States and other powers will keep their promises to us."

Arab disturbances and an Israeli suspicion that the U.N. Emergency Force planned to restore Egyptian administrators in Gaza interrupted the flow of material from the strategic area for a few hours.

Pullout Resumes
Authoritative reports said the pullout was resumed this afternoon.

The Israeli army announced an Arab civilian and an Israeli soldier were killed and two Israeli soldiers were wounded during an outbreak of sniping and attempted looting.

Ben-Gurion slashed at Egypt's President Nasser in his speech before Parliament preliminary to the votes that overwhelmed his foes—the nationalist Herut, the Communists and the conservative General Zionists.

"Will Be Peace If—" "If the United States and other powers will keep their word to us, there will be peace," Ben-Gurion said. "If they will not keep their promise and if they shrink before the Egyptian dictator's threats that he will not allow Israeli shipping in the Aqaba Gulf, there will be no peace."

Parliament batted down a series of anti-government motions. A Herut nonconfidence motion lost 884-25. A Communist motion went down 114-6.

A third motion condemning "the government's withdrawal from the Gaza and Aqaba decision" was defeated 85-24.

Reject '49 Armistice
Ben-Gurion had reiterated that Israel rejects the Egyptian-Israeli armistice of 1949 as the basis for the future status of the Gaza Strip. He held the armistice is (Continued On Page 2)

STORIES OF TWO HISTORIC LOCAL HOMES RE-TOLD

The stories of two of Gettysburg's historic houses were re-told Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Adams County Historical Society at its quarters in the courthouse.

Miss Susan Korte, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Edw. E. Korte, related "The Story of the White House at Gettysburg College," where she resided for four years and on which she wrote a paper for her American history course at Gettysburg High School last year.

A paper prepared by Miss Jane L. Reuning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reuning, on "The Story of Linwood (Gettysburg Academy)" also written in the history course at Gettysburg High School was read by her teacher at that time, Jacob M. Sheads. Miss Reuning is a student at Bucknell University.

Plans for a map of Gettysburg as it was July 1, 2, 3, 1863, listing the homes of the residents of that time were discussed. Professor Sheads, in making the suggestion, urged that the map be prepared as part of the observance of the 100th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg.

Activities of student historians were outlined. Sheads said his group from Gettysburg High School plans to clean Round Hill Cemetery again in April. Mrs. George Ditchburn, chairman of the genealogy committee, reported 14 Gettysburg High School students have been assisting in a project to type off inscriptions on gravestones. So far graves in Butler, Cumberland, Highland and Mt. Joy Twp. have been completed and the data filed. President W. E. Tilberg presided at the meeting.

The "White House" on the college campus was constructed as a residence for the college president in 1859 at a cost of $3,776, "not including plumbing for gas," Miss Korte said.

Noted Guests There

"The next few years were undoubtedly the most exciting years the White House ever knew. It was only three years old when the Civil War broke out. After the three-day battle here the White House served as a hospital mainly for Confederate soldiers and some Union soldiers.

"There were stories that there was an underground railway station in the cellar, slaves were hidden in the White House. In its earlier years the house was white brick with green trimming. It appeared quite square because the two porches hadn't been added. There are five fireplaces, one of which has been sealed. It was originally in the kitchen with a huge open hearth.

The White House made an excellent home, but it was built mainly for entertainment purposes. General Eisenhower came here, in Dr. Hanson's administration, to receive the Doctor of Laws degree, and was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Hanson there. Among guests have been "a prime minister of England, an archbishop, a price of Turkey, other presidents, counts and ambassadors."

PROGRAM HERE

Dr. W. E. Tilberg, dean emeritus of Gettysburg College, has been appointed Adams County chairman of the Pennsylvania United Church Center program. It was announced today at Harrisburg by the state chairman, Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, Philadelphia.

Bishop Corson, resident bishop of the Philadelphia area of the Methodist Church, also announced the appointment of Rev. Robert Knechel, Gettysburg Church of the Brethren pastor, as co-chairman.

In accepting the appointment, Dr. Tilberg said that the plan for the Pennsylvania United Church Center "presents an unusual opportunity to unite in a common effort. Probably not again in our lifetime will we be able to express in just this manner the Christian unity that exists among us."

Movement Is Statewide

Dr. Tilberg pointed out that in recent years the cooperative Christian work of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches has more than tripled, and each year brings new demands for greater service — therefore, the need for the Pennsylvania United Church Center. The center, he said, will house the Pennsylvania Council of Churches and the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association.

The Rev. Mr. Knechel, who will organize the church approach in the project, said that 50 church bodies from 19 communities are united in focusing the Christian influence on urgent spiritual, moral and social needs in the state (Continued On Page 3)

MORE MIGRANT LABOR NEEDED

Based on present farm and fruit crop outlooks, local representatives of the State Department of Labor and Industry estimated that more migrant help will be needed in Adams County this year than in 1956 when about 325 Puerto Ricans and southern negroes were brought here for the harvest season.

Officials at the State Employment office, at 39 West St., estimated today that upwards of 300 Puerto Ricans will be required and about 250 migrant workers from the South.

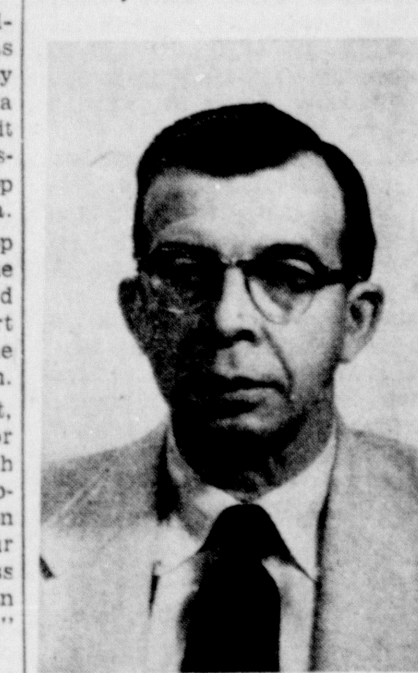

Fruitmen and farmers who anticipate labor needs this year and are interested in getting migrant workers should notify the employment office here promptly so that arrangements can be made.

The State Department of Labor and Industry will send a representative to Florida in April to recruit migrant crews and to verify previously made commitments by crew leaders who were here last year and had expected to return in 1957. The representative also will take care of "other related matters for Pennsylvania farmers" on his April trip.

7 DIRECTORS SELECTED AT DHIA BANQUET

Seven directors were elected by the Adams County Dairy Herd Improvement Association at the annual banquet meeting of the group Tuesday evening at the Two Taverns parish hall.

Named to the board were H. Russell Grove, J. Allen Spangler, Clay Snyder, Earl Brandon, Mervyn Myers, Glenn Sterner and Henry Pennington. The new and old directors will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the courthouse to select officers for the coming year.

President H. Russell Grove presided at the dinner meeting attended by 87 members and their families. Howard Waybright gave the invocation. Mrs. Harold Eckert sang several numbers accompanied by her husband.

Family Farm Economical
Fred Hughes, farm management specialist from Pennsylvania State University, told the group that "the family farm is not going out of existence as many suspect. If anything, the family farm's position is growing stronger. But it has been and will be necessary for the family farms to become larger, until they are more economical units, and they must be operated more efficiently. When does right the family farm is the most economical of units."

"At the same time there are many in farming who should get out. They would be better off in industry and so would the country. There have been a great number of farmers who have gone out of farming in the last ten years. Most of them are doing better now than they ever would have done on the farm. At the same time, if they had remained farming, surpluses would be larger than they are now and the income of each present day farmer would have been cut by about one-third."

J. Allen Spangler read the minutes. Charles Klingner presented the report of the nominating committee. President Grove reported on the new IBM machine method of keeping dairy records.

Israel Begins

null and void on the ground Egypt violated it by continued belligerence.

The Premier referred to a statement to the United Nations last Friday by U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge which was a factor in Israeli hesitation last weekend over whether to go through with the withdrawal.

Lodge had agreed with the previously stated view of U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld that the future of the Gaza Strip must be "worked out within the framework of the armistice agreement." The Israelis protested that this would mean any U.N. administration there would be technically under Egyptian control.

To Restore Pipelines
The decision to go through with the withdrawal came only after fresh diplomatic consultations in Washington and Ben-Gurion's receipt of a letter from President Eisenhower giving U.S. backing to Israel's hopes for peace in the Middle East.

There was a promise of a quick restoration of the Iraqi Petroleum Co., pipelines across Syria which Syrians put out of action in reprisal for the Israeli-French-British invasion of Egypt last November. Pumping stations were blown up.

The company announced Syria officially agreed to allow it to make repairs and resume pumping of oil from Iraqi fields to the Mediterranean.

THROWS ACID IN MAN'S FACE

CONROE, Tex. (AP)—An unidentified assailant last night splashed acid in the face of a prominent chiropractor who testified in an investigation of a bribe charge against State Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe.

Dr. E. E. McMeans Jr., 32, his left eye patched, said he had no idea who tossed the bottle of acid at him. He said he knew of no direct connection it could have with the Cox case. But Cox said he thought it was connected with the investigation of the bribe charges.

Texas Ranger Johnnie Klevenhagen, assigned to the case, said, "If the acid had hit him in the face full force, he would not have had much face left. He got only the splatter."

McMeans' left eye was practically closed when he lifted the patch for newsmen. The lower eyelid was a bluish color. He said there was a "little pain."

This building, erected in 1813 as the home of Gettysburg Academy, also served as the first home of the Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary and Gettysburg College, which was chartered as Pennsylvania College of Gettysburg," according to Miss Reuning's article.

The private schools (Dobbin School, Rev. David McConaughy's School, dating back to 1776) created an active interest in higher learning among Gettysburgians. Miss Reuning wrote, "Accordingly the first non-private educational enterprise in Adams County (excluding parochial schools) was undertaken by a group of public spirited men in 1810. They secured a grant of two thousand dollars from the Pennsylvania legislature for the establishment of a building, the procurement of equipment and the meeting of current expenses."

Among early teachers were Samuel Ramsey, Henry Wells, Cornelius Davis and Charles Davis. "The Rev. David McConaughy gained a faculty position in 1821 and was head of the academy in the 'early twenties.'"

Debts Mounted

"At the time of the first formal announcement in 1815 the trustees informed the public that 'a class of young ladies will commence the study of geography.'" Shreds commented that this indicated the school was one of the first co-educational schools.

By 1824 the academy was $850 in debt. There were suggestions a lottery be held. Thaddeus Stevens suggested the borough raise the sum by taxation. Neither plan materialized. "By 1829 the debt had grown to $11,000, and it formally announced that the Academy building would be put up for public sale."

The Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary, founded in 1826, had been renting the academy building and holding classes there. In addition, Rev. Samuel Simon Schmucker, founder of the seminary, had established a classical department at the school. When the sheriff's sale was announced Dr. Schmucker said he would purchase the building for the amount of the debt, if no one bid against him, and that the building be used only for school purposes "without first giving the citizens of Gettysburg the privilege of redeeming it at the price given for it" by Prof. Schmucker. In August 1829, he became the owner. Money for his purchase was raised by selling shares of stock at $50 a share to Lutheran clergymen. On 1829 the name of the Gettysburg Classical School was changed to Gettysburg Gymnasium which was divided into two departments, the collegiate and the preparatory.

Historic Events

Since neither the Classical school, nor Gymnasium, admitted women, the Gettysburg Female Academy was established in 1829. The money was raised by popular subscription and the building was erected on E. High St. in 1831. In 1832 the seminary moved to its "new building" on Seminary Ridge. And in the same year the gymnasium became Gettysburg College.

The college soon needed money and the legislature was asked in 1833 to provide funds for the college.

"James Patterson, then Adams County representative in the legislature, saw that the bill to provide funds for Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg was defeated. But at the next legislature Thaddeus Stevens pushed through the bill at the risk of his political career, and the college on January 23, 1834, received an appropriation of $18,000.

Bought Stevens Field

"A celebration was in order when the news reached Gettysburg and there was a huge bonfire at the college on the corner of High and Washington Sts. 'The building was brilliantly illuminated and the bell of the Lutheran and Reformed Church was rung.'"

"One of the purposes of the appropriation from the state was to provide a proper building for the college, and a field owned by Thaddeus Stevens in the northern part of town was purchased and Pennsylvania Hall was constructed. In 1837 the college moved into the hall since known as 'Old Dorm.'"

"In 1838 the Female Academy moved to the former academy-college-seminary building at the corner of High and Washington Sts. when the former female academy building on E. High St. was needed for overflow pupils from the public schools.

Gaps In Its Story

"So from 1838 to 1848 the record seems to prove that the old academy building was occupied by the Female Academy. Records show almost nothing of the years between 1848 and 1856 except to mention 'Mrs. Wallace and daughter' as conducting a school at the building. In 1848 the property was sold to Henry and Sarah Ann Saltzger. While it was the property of the Saltzgers it was apparently taken over by the Rev. David Eyster and wife Rebecca.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Blizzard Sweeps Thousand Of Dollars Damage In This Area Sunday. Town Is Isolated; Gettysburg and Adams County today were being unraveled from the knottiest tangle of telephone, telegraph and power lines ever experienced in this section of the state in the wake of Sunday's blizzard. Thousands of dollars damage to communication and power lines has resulted, local officials said.

Gettysburg suffered most from the disruption of the power lines. Buffeted by a high wind and weighted down by snow and ice, the power lines which furnish Gettysburg and vicinity with electricity snapped at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Local officials of public utilities reported hundreds of poles down throughout the county, with wires tangled and twisted in such a way that several days will be required to straighten out the skein. Radio service was discontinued and many homes were without heat served by electric and oil burners.

When the power lines snapped, gas and coal oil stoves, coal stoves, coal oil lamps and candles were pressed into service for cooking and lighting. Home owners with electric stoves and oil burners found themselves unable to prepare the evening meal Sunday or to heat their homes.

Motorists who ventured out Sunday in quest of gasoline found service stations open, but unable to operate their gasoline pumps, the majority of which are run by electrically-driven motors.

Gettysburg water supply was seriously threatened when the current operating the large pumps in the local company's plant cut off during the blizzard. Officials were worried over the continued drain on the 1,000,000 gallon reservoir supply. They feared disastrous consequences in event of a strong fire.

Telephone service in Gettysburg and neighboring communities was the most seriously crippled in years.

DAR Chapter Presents Fine Washington Program: If an old stone spring house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. McIlhenry, Harrisburg Rd., could see and feel emotions, it would have been thrilled during the monthly meeting of the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Saturday afternoon. For the old spring house, which dates back to Revolutionary days, witnessed the performance of Washington's favorite dance, the minuet, and heard music of the colonial era.

Thirty-five members attended the meeting at which Mrs. J. Ellis Muselman presided.

One of the features of the meeting was the dancing of the minuet by four girls attired in gown and wig. This feature was so well received that the members asked that it be repeated. Those who participated in the dance were the Misses Gitt, Hamilton, McIlhenry and Swope.

Mrs. D. C. Jacobs, of Arendtsville, who was in charge of the program, played three stirring marches as piano solos and Mrs. Mark K. Eckert sang three patriotic selections.

Sherdel Leaves For Braves' Camp: Bill Sherdel, of the Boston Braves' pitching staff, left McSherrystown Thursday for the spring training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Sherdel, who spent the winter operating his cafe in McSherrystown, had been granted permission to report late on account of the illness of a member of his family.

Rupp Seeks State Republican Post: C. Ray Rupp, Steinwehr Ave., proprietor of the Gettysburg steam laundry, today had petitions in circulation for Republican state committee man from Adams County. $10,000 Ransom Is Demanded For Baby Lindbergh, Kidnap: Hopewell, N. J., March 2 (AP)—Ransom has been demanded for the Lindbergh baby, kidnapped from its nursery last night, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is willing to pay if he can get the infant back safely in its mother's arms.

It was learned at noon today that

Today's Talk

AFRAID OF MISTAKES?
If you are afraid of mistakes you are afraid of yourself! Mistakes are the common lot of us all, rich or poor. The greatest make mistakes, Cecil Rhodes, the so-called "Empire Builder" of South Africa, once said: "Mistakes? I presume that I make more than anyone else — but I pay no attention to them!"

A woman said to Henry Ward Beecher, after he had finished a sermon. "Mr. Beecher, did you know you made a grammatical error in your sermon? Said Beecher: "I'll wager that I made a dozen of them! Mistakes belong to no one individual. They belong to us all. Old Josh Billings once said: "Success does not consist in never making mistakes, but in never making the SAME ONE twice!"

Mistakes are great teachers, but those teachers are often very particular and we have to suffer because of the mistakes which we make. It's fortunate if we learn by our mistakes. The mistake we make that involves the success or happiness of some one else is the most regrettable. We can profit by our own mistakes. Mistakes are unrecalable!

However, do not be afraid of your mistakes. Face them, humbly acknowledge them — and pass on. Make as few as possible. Never allow them to throw you! Blame no one else because of a mistake that is your own responsibility. Master yourself against mistakes. The greatest of all fears, perhaps, is that of fearing to make mistakes. Get over that fear and you will be able to make fewer and fewer mistakes, and you will have learned one of the great lessons of life itself.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Potentials" Protected, 1957, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

ASH WEDNESDAY

Ash Wednesday, and we start afresh.
To scorn the pleasures of the flesh
And try to practice self-control—
Not for the body, but the soul.

Into the wilderness He went
For forty days a penitent,
And we His children even now
In prayer for courage humbly bow.

Some do it when to fast they dare
And others seek God's love with prayer,
But many of us cannot be
As gentle and as brave as He.

Lord, grant me strength for forty days;
I would deserve Thy word of praise.
Grant me, when I am sorely tried,
To put the clamoring flesh aside.

a note found pinned to the sill of the window through which the baby was taken from his sick bed by the kidnappers made a definite ransom demand.

It also threatened harm to the child if the money was not paid, if the contents of the note were divulged or if the method of payment suggested in the note was revealed.

No one would say how large the demand was, but a report that it was $50,000 went undenied by sources close to the Lindbergh family and to the widespread search.

The world's most famous baby, the infant son of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, was in the hands of kidnappers today and puzzled police re-enacted the crime as part of their frantic efforts to solve the mystery.

Using the same makeshift ladder with which the kidnappers made a definite ransom demand, believed to have included a woman, stole through the isolated Lindbergh estate last night to snatch the sleeping child, detectives sought to determine exactly how the kidnapping was accomplished.

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's Chamber of Accusation ruled Monday that 4 Britons and 12 other defendants must face trial on charges of spying for Britain.

The Criminal Court will fix the date of the trial.
One defendant, an Egyptian, was released on bail. The others were ordered returned to jail.

Four other Britons who left Egypt will be tried in absentia.
All 16 defendants were arrested last August during the crisis over nationalization of the Suez Canal, before the British-French-Israeli invasion.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said Monday President Eisenhower may at some future date use helicopters to fly to his favorite local golf course. But press secretary James C. Hagerty said there are no such plans at present.

Hagerty told a news conference he wanted to repeat that at this time use of helicopters by the President is planned only between the White House and Washington's National Airport, a distance of little more than three miles.

NEGRO NATION OF GHANA OPENS ITS LIFE TODAY

By JOHN SCALI

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—The Negro nation of Ghana came into being today against a background of African pagantry and a call from its Prime Minister for total liberation of colonial Africa.

The red, gold and green flag of Ghana was run up in midnight ceremonies, replacing the British Union Jack and signifying formally the establishment of the first Negro nation in the British Commonwealth.

Mighty roars of "Freedom! Freedom!" rose from thousands of throats. Brilliant fireworks exploded against the sky and talking drums carried along the word of independence.

"Chest Out"
"We are no more slaves," Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah told a throng of 50,000 assembled at Accra's polo grounds. "Move about with your chest out."

The new nation — the size of Minnesota with nearly five million Africans — supplies half the world's cocoa and has rich resources of gold, diamonds, bauxite and timber.

The 48-year-old Prime Minister said independence for Ghana would mean nothing if it was not linked with total liberation of other colonial areas on the African continent.

Nixon There
U.S. Vice President Nixon and representatives of countries around the world attended the transfer ceremonies. The Duchess of Kent, Queen Elizabeth's aunt, and Lord Privy Seal Richard A. Butler represented Britain.

In Washington, President Eisenhower congratulated the government and people of Ghana and the State Department announced U.S. recognition of the new African state.

The new country takes in the self-governing colony of the Gold Coast and that part of Togoland formerly administered by Britain under U.N. trusteeship. The name Ghana was chosen by Nkrumah after a rich African kingdom that flourished in the area between the 6th and 10th centuries.

In a speech to the Legislative Assembly, Nkrumah said Ghana wanted to stay in the British Commonwealth because its members were "dedicated to seeking a solution of their problems by democratic and peaceful means." "So long as that policy stands," he declared, "our association with the commonwealth is assured."

Nkrumah, a bachelor who was educated at schools in England and the United States, describes himself as a Marxist Socialist.

PRAVDA LAUDS LATE DICTATOR

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda marked the fourth anniversary of Joseph Stalin's death Tuesday with praise for the late dictator.

"The Communist party always considered and still considers J. Stalin an outstanding revolutionary, a devoted Marxist-Leninist theoretician and great organizer," said the Communist party newspaper.

The paper's memorial to Stalin was in sharp contrast to the way the third anniversary of Stalin's death was ignored in the Soviet Union last year. The anniversary last year followed by less than a month the 20th Communist party Congress at which Stalin was denounced by the party boss, Nikita Khrushchev.

Since then Khrushchev has started rehabilitating Stalin and has described him as a "model Communist."

Observance of the anniversaries of the deaths of party leaders was ruled out by the Communist party two years ago.

Erie Mayor Was Freed From Prison To Have Xmas At Home

HARRISBURG (AP)—A legislative investigating committee took a recess Tuesday from its probe of the State Pardons Board with renewed emphasis expected to be placed on Erie County cases when public hearings resume tomorrow.

The six-member, House-Senate committee recessed yesterday after a four-hour public airing of activities of the board in relation to commutation of sentences of part of 18 men convicted in a 1954 Erie bribery scandal.

Among the cases under discussion was that of former Mayor Thomas W. Flatley of Erie who was sentenced to 1½ to 3 years on charges of bribery, violation of his oath of office and conspiracy.

Gov. Leader, on the recommendations of the four-member board, commuted the sentence to 11 months and 11 days.

Given Xmas Gift
Originally the board had commuted the sentence to one year and then, said Board Secretary Frank Hean, it took off a few days in order that Flatley and others could be home in time for Christmas.

It was this action which led Rep. Clarence Bell (R-Delaware) to complain that the board "didn't follow rules."

The Delaware County lawmaker also asserted that the board gives special consideration to some people.

"The board has one set of rules for normal people in Pennsylvania

NIXON PREDICTS NATIONAL GHANA

ACCRA, Gold Coast (AP)—Vice President Nixon predicts the new nation of Ghana "will be national but not neutral" after it achieves independence from Britain tomorrow.

After a private meeting with Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah, Nixon said the U. S.-educated Gold Coast leader told him: "We can never be neutral."

Nixon told a news conference Ghana, a British Commonwealth nation formed from the Gold Coast and Togoland, will "force policies which under no circumstances will accept foreign domination from any quarter."

"Speaking for myself," Nixon said, "I believe this is very significant because this could indicate the trend which will be followed in other African countries as they acquire their independence."

The area making up the new nation has been administered by Britain under a U.N. trusteeship. It will become independent within the British Commonwealth.

Nixon's private meeting with Nkrumah was the Prime Minister's first with any of the representatives of the 70 nations gathering here for the celebrations marking the birth of Ghana.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. Evaris A. HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Sanitary Water Board reported Tuesday that only municipalities which have had plans for sewage treatment systems approved through Feb. 20 are eligible for federal aid.

A board spokesman said the cutoff date was adopted to eliminate confusion among municipalities on what funds will be available for 1957.

Paris (AP)—A rightist French senator demanded Tuesday that Premier Guy Mollet, returning from an American tour, protest to Washington about Vice President Nixon's trip to Morocco.

Sen. Michel Debre said Nixon's visit to the Sultan of Morocco—ruler of a North African country which was a French protectorate until a year ago—had an "unfriendly character."

"Mr. Nixon," he said, "speaking recently at Rabat not only did not say a friendly word about France and the French of Morocco, but he disclosed that he treated with the Sultan on the future of Algeria, scorning French sovereignty there and the sacrifices our soldiers have made."

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet today returned to France after mission to Canada and the United States and said his meetings had given "further proof of the great friendship between France and North America."

Only one of 18 men sent to prison in the bribery scandal was refused commutation of sentence by the board. He was identified as Mike Dominick, a former Erie policeman sentenced to 1½ to 2½ years on bribery and conspiracy charges.

Referring to some of the commutations, Bell told the committee that he "condemned such practice where they commuted sentences from one flat year to 11 months and some days."

Hean said under questioning that he "threw away" notes he took at some executive meetings of the board. He said he took the notes for his own personal use.

The House last night approved and sent to the Senate a bill that would appropriate $20,000 for the investigation. The vote was 201-2.

ATLANTA (AP)—A 41-year-old expert on guided missiles at the Army's Redstone Arsenal near Huntsville, Ala., has been ordered tried by court-martial on charges he released secret information to unauthorized persons.

Trial of Col. John Nickerson, Jr., a 1938 graduate of West Point, is expected to begin within six weeks at Redstone Arsenal, where he is now restricted to the reservation.

Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, commanding general of the 3rd Army, announced the court-martial Monday. Charges were brought against Nickerson Feb. 5.

A 3rd Army spokesman, who declined use of his name, said Nickerson was charged among other things with writing two memorandums critical of Secretary of Defense Wilson and the guided missile policy of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The spokesman said Army investigation determined that five unauthorized persons received copies of the memorandums and that others might have them in their possession. But the spokesman insisted that none of the memorandums went outside this country.

Contents of the memorandums were not made public but it was understood that Nickerson wrote in some detail about the missile battle between the Army, Navy and Air Force.

PARIS (AP)—A rightist French senator demanded Tuesday that Premier Guy Mollet, returning from an American tour, protest to Washington about Vice President Nixon's trip to Morocco.

Sen. Michel Debre said Nixon's visit to the Sultan of Morocco—ruler of a North African country which was a French protectorate until a year ago—had an "unfriendly character."

"Mr. Nixon," he said, "speaking recently at Rabat not only did not say a friendly word about France and the French of Morocco, but he disclosed that he treated with the Sultan on the future of Algeria, scorning French sovereignty there and the sacrifices our soldiers have made."

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet today returned to France after mission to Canada and the United States and said his meetings had given "further proof of the great friendship between France and North America."

Only one of 18 men sent to prison in the bribery scandal was refused commutation of sentence by the board. He was identified as Mike Dominick, a former Erie policeman sentenced to 1½ to 2½ years on bribery and conspiracy charges.

Referring to some of the commutations, Bell told the committee that he "condemned such practice where they commuted sentences from one flat year to 11 months and some days."

Hean said under questioning that he "threw away" notes he took at some executive meetings of the board. He said he took the notes for his own personal use.

The House last night approved and sent to the Senate a bill that would appropriate $20,000 for the investigation. The vote was 201-2.

ATLANTA (AP)—A 41-year-old expert on guided missiles at the Army's Redstone Arsenal near Huntsville, Ala., has been ordered tried by court-martial on charges he released secret information to unauthorized persons.

Trial of Col. John Nickerson, Jr., a 1938 graduate of West Point, is expected to begin within six weeks at Redstone Arsenal, where he is now restricted to the reservation.

Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, commanding general of the 3rd Army, announced the court-martial Monday. Charges were brought against Nickerson Feb. 5.

A 3rd Army spokesman, who declined use of his name, said Nickerson was charged among other things with writing two memorandums critical of Secretary of Defense Wilson and the guided missile policy of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The spokesman said Army investigation determined that five unauthorized persons received copies of the memorandums and that others might have them in their possession. But the spokesman insisted that none of the memorandums went outside this country.

Contents of the memorandums were not made public but it was understood that Nickerson wrote in some detail about the missile battle between the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Mount Laces John Hopkins 86-59 In M-D Tournament; Oppose Baltimore Tonight

Mt. St. Mary's opened its bid for an unprecedented fourth straight Mason-Dixon Conference tournament title Tuesday evening by defeating Ross Sachs' scrappy but outclassed Johns Hopkins 86-59 as the journey got underway at Loyola College, Baltimore.

It was the 17th straight victory for the busy Mountaineers to lift their season record to 22-4.

The Bluejays got a fast start against Jim Phelan's squad with an 8-5 lead early in the game but at that point Jack Marshall, Bert Sheing and Jack Sullivan took over for the Blue and White as the Mountaineers roared to a 42-22 lead at the half. Sullivan, who finished with 23 points before going out with over 10 minutes of play remaining, landed six straight goals in one flurry.

Marshall Shines Again

Marshall, fast becoming one of the Mount standouts, led his team to a 17-10 advantage after the brief Bluejay lead in the first half.

Midway in the second half Mt. St. Mary's amassed a 60-31 lead and then Coach Phelan swept his bench in allowing the freshmen to finish the game.

In other tournament games Loyola edged American U. 65-63; Baltimore U. crushed Catholic U. 96-76, and Hampden-Sydney turned back Roanoke 76-56.

Tonight at 7:30 the Mountaineers meet Baltimore with Loyola opposing Hampden-Sydney in the second game. The winners clash Thursday evening for the tournament title.

Saturday's Fox Set

North Carolina College defeated Florida A. and M. University Tuesday evening in the NCAA small college tournament and will meet the Mountaineers at Emmittsburg Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in a second round game.

KNICKS' HOPES ARE DASHED BY SYRACUSE FIVE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knickerbockers face elimination from the National Basketball Assn. playoffs tonight as Syracuse and Philadelphia continue their struggle for second place in the Eastern division.

The Knicks saw their flickering hopes dwindle when they bowed to Syracuse 99-92 in the second game of the twinbill in New York last night. In the opener Philadelphia overwhelmed Fort Wayne's Western Division leaders 114-80.

In another key game in Boston the St. Louis Hawks edged the Eastern champion Celtics 104-102 to climb within half a game of Fort Wayne. Tonight's schedule puts New York at Syracuse and Philadelphia at Rochester. Syracuse and Philadelphia victories will mathematically eliminate the Knicks from finishing third and also keep the teams tied for second.

Blow From Syracuse

The Knicks now are 3½ games behind the Nats and the Warriors with only four games remaining—including two against the Nats and one against the Warriors. Philadelphia and Syracuse both have five games left.

Syracuse dealt a blow to New York's chances with a fourth period flurry that left the Knicks gasping for breath. After New York had sliced the Nats' 11-point lead to two points, Syracuse reeled off nine straight points to pull into a commanding 91-80 advantage.

Paul Arizin collected 23 points and Joe Graboski added 22 to pace the Warriors to their easy conquest. Rookie Tom Heinsohn clicked for 41 points in Boston's losing effort.

Lafayette was only 19 years old when he served in the American Revolutionary War as major-general. He refused salary.

Golden Glove Title Fights At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Survivors from an original field of 256 boxers who started out in eliminations at 32 centers tonight swing for titles in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions at Chicago Stadium.

Fourteen bouts in all will be crammed into the windup night, including semifinals, as well as finals, in the 112, 118 and 126 pound divisions.

Championship bouts in the 147, 160, lightweight and heavy-weight divisions—and possibly in the 135-pound class if time permits—will be nationally televised and broadcast.

Time: 10 p.m., EST, on ABC.

PODRES STOPS CAMPY AT BAT ON NEW PITCH

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Roy Campanella banged his bat in the dust and watched his popup float down behind shortstop. He walked out of the batting cage, shaking his head as he announced:

"Man, he's got good motion! Doggone if it don't look like he's throwin' harder than he is."

The pitcher who set off Campy's high-pitched pitch about his change-up was Johnny Podres, the Brooklyn's 1955 world champion. He's back after a year with the Navy.

Podres finished his turn on the mound during batting practice, stretched into his jacket and started the long stroll back to the dressing room. "It's hot," he said, brushing his forehead with his arm. Then he began answering questions.

It was a slow curve that had Campy jumping. "Maybe you could call that a new pitch for me," said the 24-year-old blond. "I'm working on a change-up off my curve. The rest is the same as before — fast ball, change-up off the fast one and a curve. Maybe my curve is better now than it was."

How does it feel, coming back? "I feel fine. My back (a cause of much concern when he went into the Navy, due to an injury at Montreal in 1952) feels good. I don't wear a brae. They're too bulky. I may have a bit of trouble with my control, but I've never been bothered by it before."

"I don't know whether my fast fall has stuff. I haven't cut loose yet. But I feel good. I've worked every other day in batting practice. My weight is pretty good too. I'm 187. I weighed 184 in the '55 series."

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — An acute shortage of shortstops may give a 23-year-old Negro, John Kennedy, a chance to play in the major leagues his first year in organized baseball.

Kennedy has been one of the prize rookies at spring training this year with the Philadelphia Phillies. He played last year with the Kansas City Monarchs and says he hit .385. Originally he was ticketed for minor league season with the Phillies, but with veteran Gran Hamner apparently through as a shortstop because of a bad shoulder, Manager Mayo Smith rates Kennedy's chances highly.

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Rain, which has plagued the Pittsburgh Pirates since they opened spring training, is bothering manager Bobby Bragan no little.

"We can't get an opportunity to see the pitchers working under game condition," Bragan declared last night. He added:

"My first thought is finding a fourth pitcher. I believe we have three starters in Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline and Vernon Law. That isn't enough. We need a fourth starter."

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Jim Busby is the 'talk' of the Cleveland Indians' training camp after the first nine inning intra-squad game of the training season yesterday.

The speedy centerfielder hit a home run, double and two singles in five times at bat.

Last season he batted only .235 in 135 games.

"The boy has worked hard," Manager Kerby Farrell said. "He has done everything I've asked him to. You can't expect any more than that."

Bullets Trowned By F-M In Final 96-72; Freshmen Cop Prelim For 10th Win

Gettysburg College's cagers were unable to give Bob Davies, who announced his retirement from the coaching field Tuesday, a final victory as they absorbed a 96-72 lacing at the hands of Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster Tuesday evening.

The Diplomats breezed through handily with five players scoring in double figures, Souder and Hamilton leading the group with 22 each.

At halftime F. and M. had built up a 51-39 margin and the second half but a repetition of the first.

Traymore High Man

Stan Traymore rammed through 20 points, 10 via fouls, to lead the Bullet attack. Tim Cousins netted 16 and Captain Bobby Walsack added 12.

Superb foul tossing marked the freshman game in which Jack Ridinger's yearlings took an 87-80 verdict for their 10th win against eight reversals.

The Bullet frosh, who were led by Dick Davies with 29 points, converted 25 on but 30 free tries. F. and M. sank 26 of 33. The big point man of the game was Weinstein of the Diplomats who looped 13 goals and 14 charity heaves for a total of 40.

CO-EDS DROP 2 CONTESTS AT ELIZABETHTOWN

Gettysburg College's girls lost a double-header at Elizabethtown Tuesday evening, the varsity bowling 7-19 and the reserves 51-49.

In the varsity game Elizabethtown took a 20-6 lead in the first period and thereafter the outcome was never in doubt.

It was the ninth loss in 10 starts for the Bulletes who conclude their season at East Stroudsburg on Thursday.

A pair of foul shots in the final minute gave the Elizabethtown reserves their triumph after a close game all the way. The loss was but the second against four wins for Raye Luckenbill's squad. They finish their campaign here this evening at 7 o'clock against St. Joseph's.

Soon Will Have Machine To Read Addresses And Sort Mail For P.O.

Continuing the "revolutionary changes" in the Post Office Department, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield revealed recently that a working model is expected next year on a machine that will read addresses on letters and sort them automatically.

A machine is being built that will cancel mail electronically, the postmaster general revealed as he issued his 137-page report for 1956 in which modernization steps taken in the department were "unparalleled in postal history."

Already, Mr. Summerfield said, mechanical and electronic improvements promise to usher out 50-year-old hand methods of handling U. S. mails. The Postal Service finds itself at the point where "next day delivery of letters anywhere in the U. S. is not too far distant."

Mr. Summerfield's report also revealed these facts about the Post Office:

Public Gathers Stamps
The nation's city delivery population is increasing by leaps and bounds to a total of 87,979 routes in fiscal 1956, including in one year an increase of 3,971 routes to serve 199,763 additional business firms and 1,839,446 additional American families.

Public interest in stamp collecting is at a high point, with the 1,894,855 sales of the Philatelic Agency the highest in five years.

The department handled 56,441-216,000 pieces of mail in 1956, about 20 billion more than the 36.3 billion of 1946, and more than double the 23.5 billion of a generation ago in 1936.

More Dead Letters
Money orders for $5,911,182,000 were issued in 1956, well above the previous year total of $5,851-613,538.

Americans lost less money in dead letters, but still a sizeable amount, $365,112 in 1956, compared with $421,573 in fiscal 1955.

But the total of dead letters was greater, 21,088,494, about a half million above 1955. Incidentally, Americans have been losing between 10 and 25 million dead letters a year

TO UNFREEZE AMERICAN AID TO MIDDLE EAST

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials are making plans to unfreeze U. S. aid to the embattled Middle East area this month in a further effort to restore tranquility there.

All aid programs in the immediate area were necessarily suspended last fall when the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt forced the recall of 199 foreign aid officials, together with their families, to avoid injury. That left nobody in the area to administer the aid programs under way in Israel, Egypt and Lebanon.

Officials said today orders to return to their posts will go out to these 199 experts sometime this month—presumably as soon as Israeli troops complete withdrawal from Gaza and Sharm el Sheikh, and the last sunken ship is cleared from the channel of the Suez Canal.

Have $750 Million

Congress has appropriated 750 million dollars for military and economic aid in the Middle East during the fiscal year ending next June 30. President Eisenhower has an additional 190 million dollars to use as he sees fit.

Awaiting congressional approval.

al is Eisenhower's request for a freer hand in spending 200 million of available funds in the area.

American officials expect the Israeli withdrawal to be swift. Likewise, they look for clearing of the Suez Canal by mid-March.

Pending Request

United Nations officials are negotiating with Egyptian President Nasser on some sort of interim operation of the canal pending a permanent agreement on canal tolls and other problems.

Israel has pending a request for U. S. arms, as well as an application for a 75-million-dollar Export-Import Bank loan for irrigation. Syria, which U. S. officials consider pro-Moscow, gets no U. S. aid of any kind and has been offered none.

No problem is seen in resumption of aid programs in Lebanon, with which the United States has had close ties.

None For Egypt

Egypt has been getting farm surplus products and some technical aid, but with reference to new funds Secretary of State Dulles told a Senate committee, "We have no present plans for giving economic help to Egypt."

And he said too that "we are not contemplating picking up that tab" when asked if the United States might pay Jordan the 35-million-dollar subsidy on which it had subsisted until the British withdrew it. Other Arab countries have offered to provide the subsidy but Dulles indicated the administration was thinking about providing some sort of economic aid to Jordan.

SAYS OIL LIFT OPERATED UNDER CONTROL OF U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a committee of 15 major oil companies which worked out the European emergency oil lift says the program has operated "under the complete direction and control of the government."

Stewart P. Coleman, a vice president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, made this comment in testimony prepared for the Joint Senate Antitrust and Public Lands subcommittee headed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.).

The Wyoming lawmaker and other members of Congress have been sharply critical of antitrust immunity given to the oil industry group.

In his prepared testimony, Coleman said the oil committee had "done a fine job" in helping "stave off catastrophe" for Western Europe.

SENATE OKAYS WILLIAM BATT FOR LABOR POST

HARRISBURG (AP) — William L. Batt Jr., director of the Toledo, Ohio, Industrial Development Corp., is to be sworn in next Monday as Pennsylvania's secretary of labor and industry.

His appointment by Gov. Leader gained Senate confirmation yesterday, 47-2. The dissenting votes were cast by the Democratic Floor Leader, Sen. John H. Dent, and Sen. Joseph J. Yocum (D-Northampton).

Batt will succeed John R. Tortuato, Cambria County Democrat, who was dismissed by Gov. Leader for his operation of a special unemployment compensation fund in the department. The governor said a number of men employed from the fund were engaged in other employment.

Had Some Opposition
The Senate vote came after some opposition because Batt is from out of state, although a member of a prominent Philadelphia industrial family. He has been with the Toledo corporation since 1954.

"We would like to have him be from Pennsylvania, but it seems impossible to have the governor send anybody over here who is from Pennsylvania," Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican Floor Leader, said.

Mahany observed that Leader, in sending the nomination to the Senate, had listed Batt's residence as Harrisburg. Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin) said "I checked and the gentleman is not registered in Pennsylvania."

Batt, 41, was born in Cleveland. In 1946, he was a Democratic candidate for Congress from the 17th Pennsylvania District comprising Montgomery County. Leader had made his nomination to be effective March 1.

worked out prior to blockade of the Suez Canal and Middle East pipelines last fall, and the program went into operation early in December.

Since then, he said, Western Europe has received about 83 per cent of its normal oil requirements, although the Suez crisis shut off supplies of about two million barrels a day.

Coleman said this country and other Western Hemisphere supplies had provided nearly a million barrels of oil daily for Europe, about a third of its needs.

He said the entire operation was set up at the request of top administration officials and that they, not the major oil companies, asked the antitrust immunity to permit pooling of scarce tankers, supplies and other facilities.

Man Arrested For Threats On Leader

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The FBI Tuesday disclosed the arrest of a former Pittsburgh man on charges of writing threatening letters to Gov. George Leader of Pennsylvania.

John Clair Aiden, 34, was picked up on Monday by special agents in Denver where he is currently living. The warrant charges that Aiden on or about Feb. 11 sent a letter to Leader which contained threats to injure the governor.

START PROBE OF COMMIES IN PENNSYLVANIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee yesterday opened an inquiry into communism in eastern Pennsylvania. Its first witness, a commercial artist from Philadelphia, refused to answer questions concerning alleged past Communist activities.

The witness, Jacob Felsenstein, said he is not a member of the Communist party and has not been within the past year. But he declared "I refuse to be a witness against myself" when asked whether he had signed a Communist party nomination petition, addressed demonstrations against the Korean War, or had been active in behalf of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, atomic spies who were executed.

Wife Is Summoned
Felsenstein's wife also was called as a witness and likewise refused to answer questions about her past.

Robert Morris, subcommittee counsel, said the group has received testimony that Felsenstein had been a member of the party and a member of the district committee for eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Morris said the current inquiry not only will take in Philadelphia and eastern Pennsylvania generally, but will include specifically Bethlehem, Allentown, Easton and Reading.

Systematic Cheating Is Found Customary In Big Colleges

CHICAGO (AP) — A survey of American college students indicated today that "systematic cheating on examinations is the custom rather than the exception" at many large colleges.

The survey, conducted by Philip E. Jacob, social science professor at the University of Pennsylvania, was prepared for delivery to the 12th National Conference on Higher Education.

In contrast to what the report called "generally low standards in regard to academic honesty" were findings about college students' standards of sexual morality.

"Despite the boldness of college talk, dress and outward social conduct," it said, "... in personal practice and fundamental belief students generally hold to standards which are thoroughly conventional."

Jacob's study inquired into what influence colleges and universities tax collector's salary. At the end of the year, $1,636.09 remained to be paid on last year's taxes.

have on students' social, moral and religious values.

The answer, he said, is that "for the most part" they seem to have no influence at all.

Most Obvious Chinks

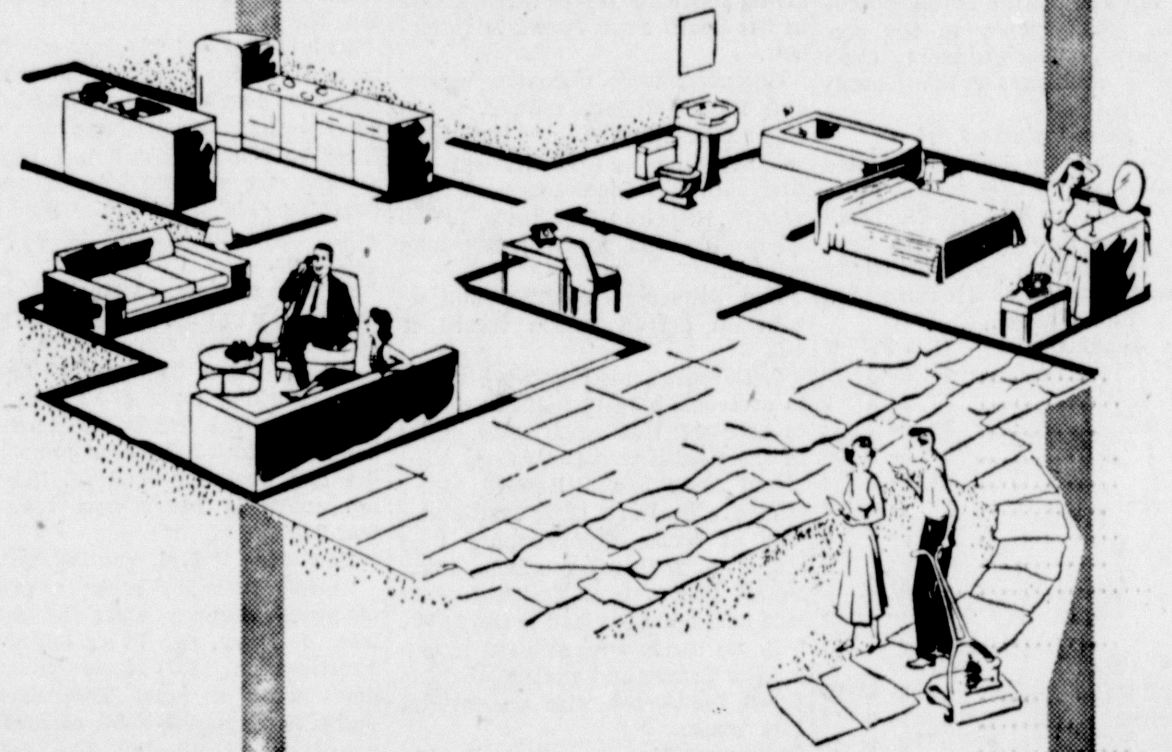

Although the "intellectual, cultural or moral climate of some institutions stands out," Jacob said, most colleges "will have to learn how to... salvage the most essential product of a liberal education — students who know what they value and why."

Although students generally seemed to profess reasonably high values, Jacob said, "it is with regard to cheating that the chinks in the moral armor of American students are most obvious."

"The situation varies greatly among institutions," he added, "but the practice is so widespread as to challenge the well-known universal claim of students that they value honesty as a moral virtue."

"Frequent cheating is admitted by 40 per cent or more at a large number of colleges, often with no apology or sense of wrongdoing."

LAUDS POLICIES OF IKE AS AID TO U. S. BUSINESS

AP Special Washington Service WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Simpson (R-Pa.) said today policies of the Eisenhower administration "have proved beyond a doubt the enormous potential of the free enterprise system."

"The absence of harassment for political reasons in recent years has given all business—large, medium and small—a shot in the arm that has resulted in the setting of all-time records for performance," Simpson said in a statement.

Business accomplishments of the past four years, he said, have "proved the economic base against communism and its materialistic dialectics."

Standards Improve

"Experts who had predicted that American would be living one-third better in 25 to 50 years have cut their estimate to 10 years."

Simpson said that most "enemies of big business" merely are trying to "turn the clock back to an era when it was profitable to make an ogre out of business, particularly big operations."

"The fact is that the United States is now a big country with big responsibilities of a world-wide nature. These require big business as an adjunct."

Simpson declared the nation must be "on the lookout for abuses of power by business interests, as well as by other powerful groups in our society."

"We must not, however, permit ourselves to damage the institutions which undergird our nation's power and influence in the world today," he added.

WOMAN SOLON TO BE HONORED

WASHINGTON (AP)—A delegation of 550 women from all parts of Pennsylvania will visit Washington March 13 to honor Rep. Kathryn Granahan (D-Pa.).

Mrs. Granahan, who succeeded her late husband in Congress, is Pennsylvania's lone congresswoman and the first woman ever elected to Congress in Philadelphia.

The delegation, which will gather in Philadelphia and then journey here by bus, will be made up of members of the Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs of Pennsylvania.

Heading the group will be Mrs. Louise John, West Chester, vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee, and Mrs. Helen Massock, Pittsburgh, federation president.

Heading regional groups in the delegation will be Mrs. Helen D. Sutton, Easton; Marguerite Mattis, Erie; Mrs. John Rice, Gettysburg; Kathryn Z. Vanderslice Harrisburg; Mrs. Mary Varrallo, Philadelphia; Rita Kane, Pittsburgh; Pearl Snow, State College, and Katurah Claver, West Chester.

DELINQUENT J.P.'S. MAY BE OUSTED

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House has approved unanimously a bill to remove from office justices of the peace, magistrates and aldermen who are delinquent in turning over fines to county officials.

Under the bill, the members of the minor judiciary could be charged with misdemeanors and misbehavior in office if they did not give the fines to the county within 20 days of stipulated quarterly reporting dates. Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of $500 and six months imprisonment in addition to removal from office.

Other House bills gaining approval yesterday would: Permit the minority leaders of the House and Senate to designate a member of the House or Senate to serve in his place as a member of the executive board of the general state authority.

Require Pennsylvania authorities to submit to the creating body quarterly reports listing the name, position and salary of all employees and make these reports open to public inspection.

Little Red Hen Is Laying Green Eggs

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP)—A little red hen is turning out Easter eggs ahead of time. They're green.

The pullet, purchased last July by John Hubbuch, has been laying pastel green eggs since the first of January. The insides are like any other egg.

Hubbuch can't explain it. He feeds the hen the same feed he gives his 16 other fowls. But still she comes up with green eggs.

Blind, Deaf Mute Keeps His Garden

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The auctioneer's gavel went down the last time yesterday on a tiny lot being sold for back taxes, and with the sale went the flower garden of David Badger, a 60-year-old blind deaf mute.

Or so it seemed for a moment. Then realtor Benjamin Prager Jr. learned of the blind man who six years ago turned the vacant, rubble-strewn lot into a flower garden. Prager handed the lot over to the blind man's friends whom he had just topped with a $1,000 bid.

Now Badger can look forward to the coming of spring and the scent of growing flowers again.

WADE SUPPORTS LEADER IN SIX CENTS GAS TAX

HARRISBURG (AP)—Chairman of the Senate Highways Committee tentatively endorsed today Gov. Leader's proposal to retain the gasoline tax at six cents a gallon.

"It seems logical at this point to keep the tax at six cents because the Highway need is acute but I am studying the matter further," he said.

The governor proposed yesterday that the gasoline tax be kept at six cents instead of allowing it to drop to five cents a gallon June 1 as House Republicans already have voted to do.

"We should be in a position to use every penny of federal aid," Wade said. "If it takes a six-cent gasoline tax to do it, I'm in favor of it."

Wade also noted that municipalities would be expected to support the Leader plan since they stand to gain an extra 11 million dollars in state aid for local roads.

Their current allocation of 52 millions would jump to 63 millions in the two-year fiscal period starting next June 1.

The House last week passed as part of its "no-new-taxes" package a measure to reduce the gasoline tax to five cents on June 1. The extra cent was imposed for flood relief in 1955 and automatically expires Sept. 12.

"Keeping the gasoline tax at six cents would in no way violate the Republican pledge of no new taxes," Wade said.

Berger Is Opposed

Wade's statement ran counter to that of Sen. James S. Berger (R-Potter) who said continuance of the extra cent beyond flood relief purposes would amount to a new tax.

Reaction to Leader's 720-million-dollar highway fund budget was mixed. Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader, called for "very careful scrutiny" without committing himself.

Rep. Albert S. Readinger, Democratic floor leader, described as "a wise suggestion" Leader's recommendation that the gasoline tax be made permanent at six cents.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, urged enactment of the six-cent levy to insure federal aid.

But Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, said he would be against the increase were it not for the feature increasing state aid to municipalities.

Other legislative developments: Spending Restrictions — Republicans abandoned a plan to make it a crime for a state official to spend more money than appropriated to his agency.

Mahany described it as "too drastic" and said a possible result would have been keeping capable executives out of state government.

He said he would amend his own bill which, as now written, makes overspending a misdemeanor.

or with a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Deficiency Grants — House Republicans refused a Democratic administration request to increase a 7½ million dollar deficiency appropriation for relief by $350,000.

The vote was along party lines with the GOP saying that if the money was actually needed another bill could be passed later.

Budget Requests — The House State Government Committee approved a plan to require the state budget secretary to submit copies of departmental budget requests by more than 135 millions but has refused to give the Legislature details of the cuts.

You can literally travel from A to Z on the Canadian National Railway's main line. Across the vast plains of central Canada, the towns are commonly named in alphabetical order. For instance, a passenger leaving Portage La Prairie, Manitoba, passes Arona, Bloom, Cave, Deer — all the way through the alphabet. West of Winnipeg, starting with B, there's Beaudry, Cabot, Douglas, Ellis, Frontier, Gervais, and so on. Who began this systematic naming of stations is not known, but it is supposed the idea may have originated with orderly-minded settlers who followed the advancing rails westward and built their homes alongside the railway.

If you buy a ticket to Alice Springs, Australia, you'll go "out back" and you'll ride a train whose front part is called the "Ghan." "Out back" is the Australian term for deep into the interior, right in the middle of which is Alice Springs. "Ghan" is short for Afghanistan and is a holdover from the time when camel drivers from that Asiatic country provided the only transportation to the interior of Australia.

An unusual feature of a double-track railway bridge across the Vaal River at Vereeniging, South Africa, is that it rests on coal. The new bridge, built at a total cost of $250,000, is the connecting link between the Orange Free State and the Transvaal. Its piers are of concrete, sunk about five feet below the river bed into a deep seam of coal. Anyone who has ever poked a lump of coal in a fireplace or furnace and has seen how easily it splits apart might think the black fuel would provide an unstable foundation. But it has been found that large uniform masses of coal like those in the bed of the Vaal River are capable of supporting a surprisingly heavy load.

Today's Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE The Associated Press

New York's top millinery designers have varying ideas about what will be the most popular hat in the Easter parade, but they are agreed on one point — it will be the mood of the 1920s.

Three famous milliners — Lilly Dache, John Fredericks and Sally Victor — were asked to pick one hat each from their current collections as the most important trend-setter for spring. Here are the results:

Lemon Linen

Lilly picked a casual lemon yellow linen straw hat with squared crushed crown and brim turned up in front, because:

"I have a feeling about simplicity in the new hats. They are big, so they should not be too busy. I think a woman likes a hat which does not overpower her, and yet which looks important. This is the kind of a hat I think women all over the country are going to like this spring because it is easy to wear, it does not look self-conscious and it has that thing you call a certain flair."

John Fredericks chose a "triple-ripple brimmed cloche" in "undersea tones" of pale blue, sea green and gray, somewhat mushroom-shaped. Says he:

"This hat is going to be seen all over the world. I think it is right for Easter, because I think women are tired of flower hats. This is colorful but unadorned. It's not too large, but it looks that way. It has that 1920 look which is going to be important all year! One thing is certain about the new hats — you can see them."

Sally Victor picked a small, close-fitting cloche in violet straw with a huge bunch of violets perched over one eyebrow.

Uncle Sam Claims Home For Back Taxes

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A suburban industrialist convicted in the recent investigation of vice in the Philadelphia area ran into new trouble yesterday. The federal government claimed his Berwyn home, assessed at $43,000, for back taxes.

The government also placed a lien on industrialist Louis H. Cargill's bank accounts, totalling $425.95. Edgar A. McGinnis, district director of internal revenue, said Cargill, 49, a plastic manufacturer, owes income taxes and penalties of $26,941 for 1952-53.

Mother Of 15 Is Feted On Birthday

STURGEON, Pa. (AP)—Grandma Anna Snatchko's family gave her a birthday party in the Sturgeon Athletic Assn., Hall last night. Her 65th birthday really was last Saturday but the family had to wait until last night to celebrate because the hall wasn't available until then. Two of her 15 children couldn't make it. But all 57 of her grandchildren were there, with seven great-grandchildren.

up their hair this hair this spring," says Sally. "They're all either letting their hair grow out or cutting it shorter, or changing it in some way. So they need cover while the hair gets used to its new state. This is the kind of little, head-hugging cloche that everybody wore 20 or 30 years ago, and I still think it was one of the most satisfactory hat styles ever thought up. This kind of hat stays on in a high wind, it does not need hatpins or clips or elastic bands. It's young and simple — and it's easy to wear whether you think so or not. Besides, I think violets are going to be the flower of the year — everybody's crazy about violets this spring."

So there you have the selections of three top millinery experts on the Easter fashion race. You pay your money and you take your choice.

News Items For Upper End

LUTHERAN MEN GO TO AID OF ILL ORCHARDIST

Robert L. Kime, Aspers R. 1, Saturday learned that people in the upper end of the county are truly friends in need.

The 29-year-old upper county fruit grower and farmer is suffering from hepatitis. He was a patient in the Carlisle Hospital for 12 days, returning home last Wednesday, and has been confined to his bed at home. Today physicians are giving him another examination to determine how soon he will have completely recovered from the disease and will be able to be about.

At the same time they have warned him that he will not be able to resume his work until at least April 1.

While Kime is ill, work on the farm piles up — there being many things that don't get done when the farmer is unable to do them.

Churchmen Give Day

Members of the Young Men's and Men's Bible Classes of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Bendersville, learned of the plight of Mr. Kime. There was a quick conference among leaders and members of the organizations and last Saturday they arrived, 25 strong, at the Kime farm.

The men went to work with a will in the Kime apple and peach orchards and by late Saturday afternoon the trees had been pruned. Mrs. Kime said today she would not have believed so much work could be done in one day had she not seen the results of the work by the Bible Class members.

The men began in the morning, stopped briefly for lunch and then continued on into the afternoon, sell at the highest price.

YOUNG FARMERS ON FIELD TOUR

Twenty members of the Gettysburg Young Farmers' Association Tuesday took part in a field tour to Zeigler Brothers farm, Gettysburg R. 3; the Allen Spangler farm, Aspers R. 1, and to the A. B. C. Williams farm, York Springs.

Led by Elmer H. Schriver, agricultural education teacher at the high school here, and Donald Dillon, president of the Young Farmers, the group traveled first to the Zeigler farm where they inspected the new solar poultry house where features include multi-paneled windows, forced ventilation, feeders, waterers and roosts all in one section and a set-up which enables 2,000 chickens to be placed in space ordinarily holding 1,000 birds.

At the Allen Spangler farm they inspected the top herd in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association last year. Spangler makes his living from 33 acres of land and 12 milk cows. Last year his best cow produced 17,100 pounds of milk. Spangler told them he uses DHIA records to cull his herd heavily in order to keep milk production at a peak.

At York Springs, A. B. C. Williams, one of the county's outstanding beef men, told the group to buy good quality feeder cattle at about 300 to 400 pounds weight, add another 200 to 300 pounds on cheap roughage and silage and then finish out, checking the market to sell at the highest price.

NEW ECONOMY DRIVE STARTED

WASHINGTON (AP)—New talk of an "economy drive" was aimed today at President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget and at Senate additions to House bills.

The three-pronged drive had the solid backing of the 30-member House GOP Policy Committee, plus the support of influential Democrats and of 57 Republicans acting on their own.

The policy committee adopted a resolution yesterday calling for "substantial" cuts in government spending during the coming fiscal year. Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the GOP group, said he would consider a three-billion-dollar cut substantial. But he emphasized that the committee set no specific figure.

The 57-member unofficial Republican group is sponsoring an amendment to the House rules which would limit new appropriations and total spending for the next fiscal year to 65 billion dollars.

There appeared little likelihood that the Rules Committee would recommend the rule change.

Free Elections Are Sought For Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of four nations launched a new effort today to reunify Germany by free elections and to persuade Russia such a step is "in its own interest."

Their effort followed a two-day meeting between Secretary of State Dulles and Heinrich von Brentano, West Germany's foreign minister. The two stressed the move in a 600-word communiqué summing up their talks last night.

Attorney General Asked To Leave Pardons Board Probe

HARRISBURG (AP)—The head of a legislative committee said today he would ask Atty. Gen. Thomas E. McBride to step down as counsel for the State Pardons Board when the committee considers the David Darcy case.

"I, for one, will insist that a case of conflict of interest exists when the Darcy commutations come before the committee and will suggest McBride disqualify himself," said Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron).

McBride, before becoming attorney general, at one time represented Darcy, convicted Bucks County slayer, whose death sentence was commuted by Gov. Leader to life imprisonment on recommendation of the board.

Probe Bribery Scandal Tompkins made the statement as the committee resumed its public hearings into board operations. It considered a 1954 bribery scandal which resulted in a jail term for former Mayor Thomas E. Flatley of Erie.

Flatley was sentenced along with 17 other persons in the case. He was given 1½ to 3 years in jail on charges of bribery, violation of his oath of office and conspiracy.

It was the commutation of Darcy's sentence, along with those of Harry Zietz and Harold Foster, all implicated in the Bucks County slaying, that developed the probe.

McBride, who also is a member of the four-member pardon board, said he would resort to "judicial processes" to maintain his right to be counsel for the board throughout the probe.

May Go To High Court Asked what he would do if McBride refused to step down as counsel for the board when it considers the Darcy case, Tompkins replied.

"On the surface I don't know what we could do about it." A source close to McBride suggested the matter might have to go to the State Supreme Court.

Reminded that McBride's only connection with the Darcy case was to carry an appeal for the killer to the high court, Tompkins said:

"He had his hand in it and received compensation for it." McBride described the suggestion that there existed a conflict of interest as "so fantastic as to border on the incredible."

Say It's His Duty He said it was not only "proper" for him to represent the board but that it "is my duty to do so as attorney general."

At the same time the state's chief counsel said he would move to have testimony by J. Harold Hughes, Delaware County first assistant district attorney, stricken from the record unless he is allowed to cross-examine the witness.

Hughes testified last week at the opening of hearings into Delaware County cases heard by the board.

However, he stepped down from the stand for the committee to hear testimony from two Delaware County judges. The committee shifted then from Delaware County cases to Erie County.

London Needs More Gas Storage Tanks

LONDON (AP)—The Financial Times said today that gasoline supplies in Britain are now so high extra storage tanks had to be found.

The newspaper said its survey showed that gasoline is coming into the country at over 90 per cent of the normal pre-Suez rate but that the tightly rationed supplies are being used up at only 60 to 65 per cent of normal.

The newspaper said that even if everyone used all his ration coupons, the rate of consumption would not exceed 75 per cent, but the government is "unwilling to contemplate rationing until the normal flow of oil is restored."

OUTLINES GREAT

(Continued from Page 1) to feel that something was wrong with the education process. It seemed that the general comprehension of one's own culture had dropped out of the curriculum.

Big Schools Worried "The great universities began to be disturbed. According to a study made by Harvard, 'American colleges are committing the greatest crime against American youth depriving him of his classical heritage.'"

"Should the humanities be lost for the utilitarian training in business and the professions? In four years we can give the students what has been accumulated and let them know the problems of civilization and the single individual in a confusing and complex world. We turn to the great books for this knowledge."

"In great literature the reader is taken through the experiences, torments, joys, insights and beliefs of humanity over a long period of time. Most students enter the course with little or no understanding of their own culture. When the course is finished, it is amazing for us to discover how the course has changed the student. He now has confidence in his own judgment and the problems of society have become meaningful to him. He is no longer insular as a result of the course."

Follow Local Pattern "Many colleges are following the Gettysburg pattern. We are furnishing materials to Smith College and to publishers. The importance of the course has been noted. American Telephone and Telegraph is sending their young executives back to college to take the Great Books course because they don't know enough about human minds and so that they can meet larger situations, not only technical ones."

In 1946-'47 the General Education or Great Books course was started at Gettysburg. It was so successful that it was made a requirement for all sophomores. Now all students must take the course before receiving their degree.

Mrs. Taylor was introduced by Mrs. George H. Thrush Jr.

Mrs. Clarence Bartholomew, music chairman, accompanied Miss Mary Feeman, who sang "Ask Thy Heart" and "The Lord Has Given Me A Song." Miss Feeman is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Feeman and a graduate of Gettysburg College in 1954.

Will Sponsor Play "The Heiress," directed by Dr. Richard A. Arms, and presented by the Owl and Nightingale players, will be sponsored by the sub-league. The play will be presented Saturday night, March 23, at 8:30 o'clock in Brua Hall. Tickets are 75 cents. Proceeds will be used to remodel Brua Hall.

Mrs. Richard T. Mara, president, appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. L. S. Long, Mrs. Frank H. Kramer and Mrs. William G. Weaver. Elections will be held at the next meeting May 7.

Five new and prospective members were introduced. They were: Mrs. M. R. Geyer, Mrs. H. W. Baker, Mrs. Frederick K. Wentz, Mrs. William Musser and Mrs. John Kratzert.

Mrs. R. C. Sorrick led the devotions and Miss Ann Grimm sang during the devotional period.

The name of Thomas Ilgen Warman was entered for the Golden Book of Jewels.

Treasurer, Mrs. Earl Ziegler, reported a balance of $130.23 in the treasury.

Mrs. Milton Stokes and Mrs. Frederick Tibberg presided at the tea table.

Argue Whether Ike Follows More Passive Role During Second Term

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Is President Eisenhower in these early days of his second term tending toward a more passive role in direction of the government?

You can get a spirited argument on any "yes" or "no" answer to that question, or to these others: Is he now delegating more top policy authority to others? Does he look forward even more than during his first four years in office to trips away from Washington for a mixture of relaxation and work? Some of the talk has been keyed to the Middle East crisis.

Cut Three Days
His request for authority to use American forces in that region, if necessary, and for permission to spend 200 million dollars there in foreign aid was having rough going in the Senate when, early in February, the White House announced Eisenhower would leave Feb. 8 on his annual trip to south Georgia for quail hunting and golf as the guest of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

At the same time, Israel was still defying United Nations demands that it pull its invading troops out of territory claimed by Egypt.

He did cut three days from the two-week stay he had hoped for and returned to Washington Feb. 19 for conferences with Secretary of State Dulles and congressional leaders of both parties.

Kept In Touch
Just before going to Georgia, he had talked personally and at length with Saudi Arabia's King Saud, as he had earlier with India's Nehru and has since with France's Premier Guy Mollet.

At the Humphrey plantation, he conferred by telephone at least once daily with Dulles, who was in Washington, regarding the Middle East. Some days they talked three times.

Eisenhower also transacted other government business there, just as he does from all other places when he is away from Washington.

Called "Passive"
But that is where the argument arises. There are some who contend Eisenhower's role in the Middle East crisis was a relatively passive one during his stay in Georgia. Others—White House staff members for instance—argue that except for face-to-face contacts Eisenhower can and does keep in just as close contact with developments while he is away as when he is in the White House.

At a news conference shortly before going to Georgia in February, Eisenhower said he always insists on such trips every once in a while to help keep physically fit.

Counterarguments
Last week he directed his disavowal of aid, Harold E. Stassen, to report no longer to him but to Dulles in the State Department. That was interpreted in some quarters as a major delegation of presidential authority—and a more passive role for Eisenhower henceforth in a very important field.

The counterargument is that it was a necessary move.

James MARLOW Reports
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's raining ideas on what to do about foreign aid. When the rain's over, you can be sure Congress will go right on voting money for foreign aid.

Congress had voted more than 50 billion dollars in economic and military assistance to other countries since the Marshall Plan began in 1948. But this year, as in years past, the two main points are still these:

1. How much money will Congress approve?
2. Will it still vote it on a year-by-year basis only? Or will it be time change and agree to long-term commitments to permit long-range planning—like water development—among nations getting American money?

There has been growing hostility in Congress to continuing foreign aid at all. This shows it: Only seven senators voted against start of the Marshall Plan nine years ago; last year 30 senators voted against foreign aid.

Green, Sophia, Va.; Charles Blackburn, Towson, Md.; and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gillespie and daughters, Linda, Debbie and Kathy, of Emmitsburg.

The idea of American help to European countries wrecked by the war was not new. What was new in American foreign policy was the principle laid down by the President, known now as the Truman Doctrine.

In brief he said: Communist conquest of any country anywhere was a danger to the United States and must be prevented. The program, started with Greece and Turkey, has been extended to other parts of the world.

Spend $50 Billion
Since 1947 this country has put out more than 50 billion dollars in economic and military help to friendly and non-Communist countries. The Marshall Plan, help on a huge scale, was started in 1947.

Then followed military alliances the main ones being in Europe—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—and in Asia the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

In addition, this country has ringed Russia with American military bases in friendly countries. The policy laid down by Truman, military and economic, is still the policy followed by President Eisenhower.

Truman laid down his policy at a time when Communist guerrillas were trying to overthrow the Greek government and Turkey was under pressure from her northern neighbor, Russia.

"Support Free Folks"
"I believe," he said, "it must be the policy of the United States to support free folks who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures."

"Totalitarian regimes imposed on free peoples by direct or indirect aggression, undermine the foundations of international peace and hence the security of the United States."

The Truman Doctrine thus was the result of despair that Russia would be a peaceful neighbor and of the realization that this country had to assert leadership or ultimately expect to find itself surrounded by communism.

At that time, President Eisenhower expressed the hope Hall's "wisdom and long experience... will continue to be available, not only to the party but to the nation in the years ahead."

NO JOB FOR HALL IS WORRYING HIS FRIENDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has come up with no job for Leonard W. Hall and congressional friends fear the former GOP national chairman may be bypassed.

Hall, back from a Florida vacation, has told friends he hasn't been approached about any appointment such as that he generally was expected to get when he resigned his chairmanship in January.

At that time, President Eisenhower expressed the hope Hall's "wisdom and long experience... will continue to be available, not only to the party but to the nation in the years ahead."

10 Million Jobs Provided By Automobile Production Which Bolsters U.S. Economy

By BEM PRICE
The Associated Press

If Americans in any great numbers ever stopped buying automobiles, the U. S. economy probably would sputter like the old 1893 Duryea which started the horse on his long decline.

Ever since Charles and Frank Duryea built the first American gasoline-powered carriage in Springfield, Mass., more than a half-century ago, the economy has become increasingly geared to the rolling wheel.

There is much more to the auto's impact on the economy than the wages earned by production workers in Michigan and the 17 other states where cars are produced. All told — counting the bridge-builders lifting highways across the nation's rivers, technicians converting crude oil to gasoline, and wage-earners in the hundreds of other enterprises necessary — the production and use of automobiles provide Americans with over 10 million jobs, about 15 per cent of the nation's total.

There are currently in this country 65 million motor vehicles, men and engineers, glass makers, and the auto industry is producing new ones at the rate of about six million a year.

This means the industry's annual output accounts immediately for slightly more than nine billion dollars of the nation's annual income of $15,203,000,000.

Only Farming Is Bigger

In terms of dollars earned, the only segment of the economy to exceed the automotive industry is farming. The farmers of the nation last year had a collective income of $15,203,000,000.

But there is more to it than dollar value of cars produced. Into your car goes about 2,600 pounds of steel, plus bauxite from Arkansas and South America, latex and tin from Malaya, cotton from Dixie, leather from Texas, coal, sand and corn.

Of the 90-odd known chemical elements, 44 go into your car, 18,000 items which require refining, manufacturing or transportation.

If Detroit slows down it means jobs to steel workers, steam shovel operators, miners, railroad brake-

DIME DERRICK—FOR QUICK PAYMENT OF TROUBLESOME TOLLS.

EVEN THE BEES SUPPLY DETROIT

DETROIT (AP) — Antimony and asbestos, beeswax and bismuth are part of the long list of materials that go into the construction of the modern automobile.

Antimony is used in ballistics for bearings, asbestos goes into brake linings, beeswax is used in wire insulation, and bismuth is used to harden lead, tin and steel. Cattle supply essentials like glue, lycerine and leather. Coconut oil goes into paints and lacquers and sugar cane is used to supply the cellulose that is required in the manufacture of safety glass.

It has been estimated there are about 2,600 pounds of steel in the average automobile. Manufacturers say every continent on earth is represented in the ingredients of your car.

federal funds over the next 13 years.

Big Impact Expected

This program will have an immense impact on the economy. Just to carry out the construction work will require 49 million tons of steel, nearly 1 1/2 billion barrels of cement, 128 million tons of asphalt, over nine billion tons of crushed rock and the employment of around 450,000 people annually.

Only about 50 per cent of the vehicles on the highways carry liability and property damage insurance policies. Even so, Americans pay some four billion dollars annually in premiums for protection.

Another by-product of the auto is credit financing of car purchases. Currently Americans are in debt about 30 billion dollars for goods purchased on the installment plan. Of that total slightly more than 50 per cent is credit obtained for buying automobiles — $15,208,000,000.

In brief, as far as the U. S. economy is concerned, the automobile helps make the wheels go around.

Bright Future Foreseen By Big Manufacturers

The auto industry's figures on production and retail sales of 1956 models fell considerably short of 1955's record-smashing totals, but the leading car makers are far from discouraged.

Most of them say the industry's manufacturing and merchandising divisions needed a breather after the hectic activity of 1955. They insist, however, that 10 years hence from eight to nine million cars will have to be built each year to replace those that are junked and to meet the increasing demands of a mounting population.

In recent years annual scrapage of obsolete passenger cars has totaled around 3 1/2 million units. The experts say the figure is abnormally low; in the next decade, they say, it will approximate five million a year.

Basis For Prediction

The forecast of an average annual output of from eight to nine million cars is based primarily on the assumption that by 1965 the nation's population will be between 193 and 195 million persons. Also figuring in the optimistic outlook are expectations of a sharp rise in the proportion of suburban family units, a further marked increase in the real incomes of most American families, the probability that life in the United States will be characterized by increased rather than decreased mobility as the result of better highways and more leisure.

If the prediction of a possible annual scrapage of five million passenger cars sounds more like wishful thinking than actual expectation, it might be well to remember tremendous advances in performance, design and equipment are in prospect for the next decade.

Scrapage Could Increase

One leading authority on business research for the car industry remarked recently that "if the industry should in the years ahead develop a smaller, simpler, quieter, highly efficient engine such as the gas turbine or free piston, the scrapage rate of cars probably would surpass anything we have yet seen."

But none of the auto makers can — or will — introduce a new revolutionary type of car engine on short notice. To do so would cripple many collateral industries, for the gas turbine and free piston engines do not require high octane fuel, they do not require carburetors, they need only modified transmissions.

Thus a switch from the present type of power plant to one of the new units would greatly affect the business of many of the car industry's suppliers. If a change ever is made, it will be on a carefully planned basis.

Obviously the introduction of a gas turbine or free piston engine will not put the petroleum industry out of business. There will continue to be millions of cars requiring high octane gasoline. But a lot of filling stations will have to handle both gas and low grade fuel oil.

Atomic Energy Makes Tires Safer!

BUFFALO, N. Y. — By applying recent discoveries in the fields of atomic energy, the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Corp. of Buffalo is bringing NEW SAFETY to the highways.

Through a new atomic process called AccuRay, Dunlop is making tires stronger and safer for more reliable performance under every driving condition.

Dunlop's AccuRay, an advanced nucleonic process, takes the guesswork out of tire making. It provides new margins of strength and safety by insuring that each tire cord is completely encased in smooth, uniform layers of special protective rubber. AccuRay's action is so precise that ply thickness from tire to tire is held within unbelievably close tolerance limits of ± .001 of an inch.

Through this exact, scientific control of ply thickness, Dunlop tires are more perfectly round... more perfectly balanced. No more bumpy rides... no more thumping tires. Dangerous ply chafing, internal heat build-up, and premature tire failure are avoided.

With thin or unbalanced heat-breeding areas of potential trouble eliminated, Dunlop plies are stronger through every square inch. As a result, tires have an amazing ability to withstand terrific road punishment while providing thousands of extra miles of service.

Furthermore, Dunlop tires are uniformly safe... better balanced... more comfortable to drive. Tire for tire, it adds up to more mileage... more safety for you.

Dunlop's AccuRay is one of the finest pieces of this type equipment in the world. It is but one of the many precision machines used to assure you new quality, dependability, and outstanding performance in every Dunlop tire.

Get a matched set of the NEW Dunlop ACCURATED tires for the greatest safety, economy, and driving comfort you ever enjoyed. Every size... every style is available at the

SENATE VERSION ON RESOLUTION IS EXPECTED TO GET HOUSE OKAY

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate version of President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution was given a "good chance" today of speedy House passage right on the White House.

This word came from House leadership sources as they examined the measure passed by the Senate last night, 72-19.

The resolution serves notice on the Kremlin that America will fight, if necessary, against Communist attack in the strategic Middle East. And it would give Eisenhower more freedom in spending up to 200 million dollars in military-economic aid to that area between now and July 1.

Count On Final Vote
The House first passed the resolution 355-61 on Jan. 30 almost exactly as Eisenhower requested. The Senate put in a number of changes in a lengthy debate which delayed passage for two months after Eisenhower's original urgent request.

On the final Senate vote, 30 Democrats and 42 Republicans were counted for, while 16 Democrats joined Republicans McCarthy (Wis.), Jenner (Ind.), and Malone (Nev.) in opposing.

Secretary of State Dulles last night gave quick approval to the Senate version, saying "the substance is the same" as in the House bill.

Dulles Statement

"It is now clear," Dulles added, "that the Congress of the United States has, by an impressive, non-partisan majority joined with the President to assure the peoples of the free nations in the Middle East that the United States stands ready to join with them to build up their strength and, if need be, help them defend their national integrity and independence against Communist armed aggression."

Normally when the House and Senate disagree, on major bills they set up a conference committee to iron out differences. Then they pass a compromise measure. House approval of the Senate version would make that process unnecessary.

House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass.) said the House leadership has not yet decided whether to ask for a conference with the Senators. He did not rule out the possibility however that the House may agree to the Senate version.

Won't Press Other Bill
A House official informed on the leadership strategy considerations, asking not to be quoted by name, said there is "a good chance" that the decision will be not to press for the House bill. The House, meeting Eisenhower's request, voted to give him "authority" to use U. S. armed forces if necessary to help a Middle East nation requesting such aid to defend itself against overt Communist aggression.

The Senate voted instead to declare that if the President determines it is necessary, "the United States is prepared to use armed forces" for that purpose.

SPECIAL GROUP FAVORS FOREIGN AID SPENDING

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional calls for foreign aid cuts greeted today a presidential commission's recommendation that the assistance program be continued at its current spending rate.

The seven-member commission headed by steel executive Benjamin F. Fairless proposed that the program be changed, however, to include more loans and fewer direct grants, to spur more private development, and to permit longer range planning of projects.

It expressed hope spending eventually can be cut, but added "The United States must resolve to stay the course, and must abandon the false hope that collective security costs are temporary."

Make 5 Suggestions
The report was made public at the White House yesterday. President Eisenhower, who named the citizens' advisory group five months ago to make the study, will consider the recommendations in drawing up his own foreign aid message to Congress.

The commission's report proposed:

1. Separation of foreign aid appropriations requests to Congress, so that military projects are presented within the Defense Department's budget and economic projects within the State Department budget.

2. Integration of the International Cooperation Administration, which administers foreign aid, into the State Department "as soon as practicable."

3. Congressional appropriation of foreign aid funds on a two-year basis, spanning the life of a Congress, rather than once a year as at present.

4. Tighter coordination of aid projects within the administration to allow a cutback in personnel and more efficient operation.
